Every parent worries about getting the correct fare together every morning. They have concerns about their child losing the money or spending it on something else and being left short for the journey home. Our Educational Season Ticket helps to calm those worries and what's more, if your child loses their Season Ticket we'll replace it offering you peace of mind as well as great value.

Providing your child with an Educational Season Ticket ensures that they are safe from the temptation to fare dodge, something that we take very seriously. In fact, we prosecute anyone found to be travelling without a valid ticket, last year that amounted to 80% of the people who we caught not paying their fare. Investing in an Educational Season Ticket could save you a lot more than you think. The Season Tickets carries no restrictions which means that your child can continue to travel worry free during evenings and weekends too.

Ticket policy

Avoiding the payment of a fare is a very serious matter. Any person without a valid ticket having had an opportunity to purchase one risks prosecution for fare avoidance. To ensure that we only prosecute those persistent offenders, we are introducing the following policy in line with the National Rail Conditions of Travel.

Failure to purchase tickets after having had an opportunity to do so

Any person found to be travelling without a valid ticket having had an opportunity to purchase one will be issued with a warning, but on the first occasion allowed to purchase return tickets at child fare.

Failure to purchase tickets

A warning will be issued and the individuals name and address taken. Name and address details of those pupils who are unable or unwilling to pay the fare will be forwarded to Northern's Debt Recovery and Prosecution Unit for their attention. Any person found to be without a valid ticket after having had an opportunity to purchase - may risk prosecution for fare avoidance.
