Blurb

Derry. Summer 2016. Aidan and Iona, now eighteen, were both born on the day of the Northern Ireland peace deal.

Aidan is Catholic, Irish, and Republican. With his ex-political prisoner father gone and his mother dead, Aidan's hope is pinned on exam results earning him a one-way ticket out of Derry. To anywhere.

Iona, Protestant and British, has a brother and father in the police. She's got university ambitions, a strong faith and a fervent belief that boys without one track minds are a myth.

At a post-exam party, Aidan wanders alone across the Peace Bridge and becomes the victim of a brutal sectarian attack. Iona witnessed the attack; picked up Aidan's phone and filmed what happened, and gets in touch with him to return the phone. When the two meet, alone and on neutral territory, the differences between them seem insurmountable.

Both their fathers held guns, but safer to keep that secret for now.

Despite their differences and the secrets they have to keep from each other, there is mutual intrigue, and their friendship grows. And so what? It's not the Troubles. But for both Iona and Aidan it seems like everything is keeping them apart, when all they want is to be together . . .

Emma's Review

The book Guard your Heart in my opinion is not the greatest, as the genre was very tense, even though by the title and blurb it seemed to be more romantic, I could not get into it. I read around 150 pages and it did not really pull me in, like other books do. It was a good idea for a book, the cover looks really appealing (the best looking one, in my opinion in the years Carnegie) it is a real shame I expected it to be better than I thought it was. Otherwise, it was really well written excellent descriptions, a little to tense for my liking.

Lily's Review

Iona and Aiden were both born on the day of the Northern Ireland peace deal. This shows them at 18. They meet when Aiden is a victim of a brutal hate crime and Iona is the witness. This shows them in romance together and their struggle with the police and family. I would say best Carnegie so far. 4/5
